3. The parties agree that as between them, all rights including all intellectual property rights in and to University Data shall remain the exclusive property of Mason, and Contractor has a limited, nonexclusive license to use the University Data as provided in the Contract solely for the purpose of performing its obligations under the Contract. The Contract does not give a party any rights, implied or otherwise, to the other party's data, content, or intellectual property, except as expressly stated in the Contract.
4. Contractor will take reasonable measures, including audit trails, to protect University Data against deterioration or degradation of data quality and authenticity. Contractor shall be responsible for ensuring that University Data, per the Virginia Public Records Act, is preserved, maintained, and accessible throughout their lifecycle, including converting and migrating electronic data as often as necessary so that information is not lost due to hardware, software, or media obsolescence or deterioration.
5. Contractor shall notify Mason within three business days if it receives a request from an individual under any applicable law regarding PII about the individual, including but not limited to a request to view, access, delete, correct, or amend the information. Contractor shall not take any action regarding such a request except as directed by Mason.
6. If Contractor will have access to University Data that includes "education records" as defined under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), the Contractor acknowledges that for the purposes of the Contract it will be designated as a "school official" with "legitimate educational interests" in the University education records, as those terms have been defined under FERPA and its implementing regulations, and the Contractor agrees to abide by the limitations and requirements imposed on school officials. Contractor will use the education records only for the purpose of fulfilling its duties under the Contract for Mason's and its end user's benefit, and will not share such data with or disclose it to any third party except as provided for in the Contract, required by law, or authorized in writing by the University.
7. Mason may require that Mason and Contractor complete a Data Processing Addendum ("DPA"). If a DPA is completed, Contractor agrees that the information in the DPA is accurate. Contractor will only collect or process University Data that is identified in the DPA and will only handle that data (e.g., type of processing activities, storage, security, disclosure) as described in the DPA. If Contractor intends to do anything regarding University Data that is not reflected in the DPA, Contractor must request an amendment to the DPA and may not take the intended action until the amendment is approved and documented by Mason.

PP. UNIVERSITY DATA SECURITY: Data security is of paramount concern to Mason. Contractor will utilize, store and process University Data in a secure environment in accordance with commercial best practices, including appropriate administrative, physical, and technical safeguards, to secure such data from unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, and use. Such measures will be no less protective than those used to secure Contractor's own data of a similar type, and in no event less than reasonable in view of the type and nature of the data involved. At a minimum, Contractor shall use industry-standard and up-to-date security tools and technologies such as anti-virus protections and intrusion detection methods to protect University Data.

Immediately upon becoming aware of circumstances that could have resulted in unauthorized access to or disclosure or use of University Data, Contractor will notify Mason, fully investigate the incident, and cooperate fully with Mason's investigation of and response to and remediation of the incident. Except as otherwise required by law, Contractor will not provide notice of the incident directly to individuals who's PII was involved, regulatory agencies, or other entities, without prior written permission from Mason.

If Contractor provides goods and services that require the exchange of sensitive University Data, the Data Security Addendum attached to this Contract provides additional requirements Contractor must take to protect the University Data. Mason reserves the right to determine whether the University Data involved in this contract is sensitive, and if it so determines it will provide the Data Security Addendum to Contractor and it will be attached to and incorporated into this contract. Types of University Data that may be considered sensitive include, but is not limited to, (1) PII; (2) credit card data; (3) financial or business data which has the potential to affect the accuracy of the University's financial statements; (4) medical or health data; (5) sensitive or confidential business information; (6) trade secrets; (7) data which could create a security (including IT security) risk to Mason; and (8) confidential student or employee information.

Mason reserves the right in its sole discretion to perform audits of Contractor, at Mason's expense, to ensure compliance with all obligations regarding University Data. Contractor shall reasonably cooperate in the performance of such audits. Contractor will make available to Mason all information necessary to demonstrate compliance with its data processing obligations. Failure to adequately protect University Data or comply with the terms of this Contract with regard to University Data may be grounds to terminate this Contract.

QQ. UNIVERSITY DATA UPON TERMINATION OR EXPIRATION: Upon termination or expiration of the Contract, Contractor will ensure that all University Data are securely returned or destroyed as directed by Mason in its sole discretion within 180 days of the request being made. Transfer to Mason or a third party designated by Mason shall occur within a reasonable period of time, and without significant interruption in service. Contractor shall ensure that such transfer/migration uses facilities and methods that are compatible with the relevant systems of Mason or its transferee, and to the extent technologically feasible, that Mason will have reasonable access to University Data during the transition. In the event that Mason requests destruction of its data, Contractor agrees to destroy all data in its possession and in the possession of any subcontractors or agents to which the Contractor might have transferred University Data. Contractor agrees to provide documentation of data destruction to the University.

Contractor will notify the University of any impending cessation of its business and any contingency plans. This includes immediate transfer of any previously escrowed assets and University Data and providing Mason access to Contractor's facilities to remove and destroy Mason-owned assets and University Data. Contractor shall implement its exit plan and take all necessary actions to ensure a smooth transition of service with minimal disruption to Mason. Contractor will also provide a full inventory and configuration of servers, routers, other hardware, and software involved in service delivery along with supporting documentation, indicating which if any of these are owned by or dedicated to Mason. Contractor will work closely with its successor to ensure a successful transition to the new equipment, with minimal downtime and effect on Mason, all such work to be coordinated and performed in advance of the formal, final transition date.

RR. UNIVERSITY REVIEW/APPROVAL: All goods, services, products, design, etc. produced by the Contractor for or on behalf of Mason are subject to Mason's review and approval.

SS. WAIVER: The failure of a party to enforce any provision in this Contract shall not be deemed to be a waiver of such right.

October 26, 2022

Dear Ms. Reynolds:

On behalf of Kennedy & Company, I am pleased to present our proposal for Academic and Business Consulting Services for George Mason University (Mason). During this assessment, we will assist Mason in positioning itself to engage in innovative ventures that will support the mission and the strategic plan of the University and the citizens of the Commonwealth. With our knowledge of current industry trends and best practices, George Mason's internal operating structure, and its external competitive landscape in Virginia and the local region, we will provide the institution with actionable recommendations grounded in data-driven insights.

As you review our proposal, I hope you will keep in mind the following goals that we set for each of our projects:

Communicate with Clarity, Honesty, and Candor – We aim to present our analyses and recommendations in a way that is easily understood, (relatively) free of jargon, and direct in its manner.

Collaborate with Respect – We understand that the best projects involve the client in active, ongoing communications so that we reach conclusions and recommendations together.

Demonstrate our Passion for Higher Education – We work exclusively with institutions of higher education, helping them to achieve their goals, maintain their missions, and face new challenges.

Help the Institution to Achieve Results – We know that colleges need a practical blueprint for surviving and thriving, not another report that gathers dust. We push our clients to consider not only what to do but how they can best execute a new set of strategies.

After decades spent both working at universities and advising them on behalf of high-end consulting firms, we wanted to start a company that focused exclusively on higher education and provided the highest quality of consulting services to these institutions. Our experience with over 150 institutions has provided our team with a comprehensive view of how universities run. We aim to provide colleges and universities with a holistic approach to managing enrollments, improving university operations, enhancing student and alumni satisfaction, implementing new methods of education delivery, and achieving financial sustainability. Because the challenges that schools face rarely fit neatly into one department, our services are designed to intersect and tie together key areas to improve the overall effectiveness of the institution.

Our Expertise in Higher Education and With Public Institutions in Virginia

As a higher education consulting firm that is registered as a Virginia Small Business, we have a vested interest in bringing our expertise to local colleges and universities. Our past work with George Mason University and within the state as a whole provides us with unique expertise in the economic, governmental, and operational factors that impact institutions of higher education in Virginia. We strive to provide our clients with unparalleled flexibility, value, and commitment. As a privately-held and administratively lean organization, we are able to offer exceptional value and still retain the services of incredibly talented and well-qualified consultants.

We have not been involved in litigation with any party, have not been involved in an investigation from any regulatory body or have not been involved in any lawsuits in the past 10 years.

We hope that our proposal will demonstrate our knowledge of the unique opportunities and challenges of operating in a research university, our expertise within the industry of higher education, and our personal commitment to helping George Mason University thrive.

We look forward to your response. Should you have any questions regarding this proposal, please do not hesitate to contact me at bkennedy@KennedyandCompany.com or by phone at (703) 623-5713.

Best regards,

Ben Kennedy

Our services span constituents across campus, allowing us to see these interdependencies and synergies. We approach each project holistically, working seamlessly across multiple facets of institutional operations, helping our clients to see, understand, and optimize these connections.

Co-Created Solutions

You bring deep knowledge of your institution, while we bring proven methodologies, insight gained from our experience working with and at institutions grappling with similar challenges, and a keen sense of curiosity. KENNEDY & COMPANY

Strategic Initiatives

Kennedy & Company helps institutions take the many goals and initiatives of its faculty, staff, and students and distill them into actionable strategic plans and tangible metrics to determine their success. We advocate a high-touch approach and seek to interview a large number of employees at all levels of the organization, conduct focus groups, and convene executive leadership meetings to develop a 360-degree view of each institution. The insights that we generate and vet with a university's leaders from this phase of the strategic planning effort is used to draft a strategic plan, complete with Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) that can measure the success of each of the initiatives. Kennedy & Company has specialized in helping institutions develop their strategic plans at various levels, including state flagship research institutions, private institutions, Historically Black Colleges and Universities, Community Colleges, and Schools/Colleges within a larger institution.

Our expertise in the art of strategic planning gives us unique insights into the science of financial planning and sustainability. No new strategy or initiative can succeed in a vacuum, and Kennedy & Company utilizes its knowledge of our institutional partners and the higher education industry as a whole to develop an analysis of expected financial impacts that these long-term strategies will have. We have developed numerous financial models that leverage our experience at other institutions to develop an expectation for the revenues, costs, and timeline for an institution to pursue a particular strategy. As part of our analysis, Kennedy & Company excels not only at projecting the expected aggregate financial impact of these initiatives, but also in creating revenue and cost-sharing models to project how they will impact each central unit and individual School/ College. Institutions can use these insights to determine the implementation schedules of strategic decisions, allocate funds to Schools/Colleges, and/or to provide a stepping stone to a value/revenue-center management budget model.

Specific functions within this solution area include:

- Comprehensive Strategic Planning
- System & Multi-campus Governance
- Financial Sustainability Analysis and Review
- Net Revenue Analysis by Program and School
- Budgeting Methodology Assessment & Strategies for Change

KENNEDY & COMPANY

Overview of Expertise in Public Private Partnership Development

Kennedy & Company excels at providing analysis, insights, and recommendations around academic consulting, specifically the relationships between our higher education clients, for-profit service providers, and the student marketplace. We help institutions to identify their strategic options, prioritize them to effectively weigh the school's goals, decide together on a path forward, and implement those strategies within a reasonable time period. Kennedy & Company has a number of resources at its disposal, such as memberships to key organizations and a proprietary library of online education service contracts at other institutions. We will use these resources, our knowledge of George Mason and the higher education landscape, and our relationship with external subject matter experts to provide Mason with recommendations around how to best structure its external partnerships.

Our work in developing partnerships between not-for-profit institutions of higher education and for-profit providers of educational delivery services includes the following aspects:

High-level Strategic Planning

The key to any partnership agreement starts with an internal assessment of how the work will align with short-term and long-term strategic goals. Because we often work closely with institutional leaders to develop strategic plans, the Kennedy & Company team offers a unique perspective on the best ways to seek out partners and structure partnerships (terms, governance, and timelines) so that they are supportive of stated institutional goals and future initiatives.

Market & Competitive Landscape Analysis

No institution operates in a vacuum. Therefore, an important aspect of Kennedy & Company's work is to assist the University in developing a comprehensive understanding of both the best practices in the industry and the positioning of potential competitors. Our team conducts primary and secondary research for clients so that their leadership teams can be armed with the knowledge they need to sufficiently seek out and negotiate agreements with external partners.

KENNEDY & COMPANY

Academic Portfolio & Delivery Planning; Outsource vs. In-House Decisions

Three Options for Online Education Without an OPM

Without signing a new contract with AP, University X can complete all of the functions currently covered by AP in-house, can outsource some of the functions, or could enter into a contractual agreement with a new provider.

What to Outsource?

Online Program	University	Cost (2015)	Revenue (2015)	Revenue/Enrollment (2015)	Cost/Enrollment (2015)
Marketing	1	1	1	1	1
IT & LMS	4	3	4	4	4
Online Support	3	3	3	3	3
Course	2	2	2	2	2

Recommended In-House vs. Outsource Findings

While University X can outsource some marketing capabilities to a number of effectively serve online students, other functions will need to be outsource while it builds up its expertise in those areas.

University X should outsource marketing, IT & LMS, and Online Support. University X should keep Course and Online Support in-house.

Much of our work with University partnership agreements has been in the academic space, specifically around developing, launching, and recruiting for new academic programs. With the increasing popularity of online programs, many schools are exploring outsourcing opportunities as a way to gain enrollments fast. We have worked closely with institutions to determine the optimal way to structure these types of outsourcing agreements, including how to blend them with current offerings, share resources and revenues, and define governance across the two parties.

Financial Assessments & Implications

Financial Model: Per-Student Costs and Net Revenues

Marketing Spend Drives Enrollments in Online Education

Based on the current state of programs, University X should spend at least $45K to $60K on its online programs starting in the spring of 2016.

Projected Financial Model for University X

Using financial projections from other institutions that have launched their own online programs, we can estimate the financial performance for University X if it were to move forward with a fully outsourced model.

University X will need a commitment from leadership to secure a full level of working capital to support the program in the first 12 months of the program launch. A full level of working capital will be required for the first 12 months.

Since all partnership agreements have an impact on institutional finances, Kennedy & Company builds highly-complex financial models for its university partners. Using our knowledge of the higher education industry and the institution's specific goals and culture, we can create dynamic projections that can help universities plan for the future. Our financial assessments come with real-world recommendations for program launches, staffing needs, non-personnel investments, and course design schedules.

Partnership Evaluation & Selection

Financial Implications of Partnership Agreements

Our "optimal" online education models, produced as a result of our ability to create efficiency on delivering the online program management company, provide financial returns that are 20% higher than a fully outsourced approach.

Case Study: Early Outsourcing, Later, In-House

University X partnered with Kennedy & Company as a fee-for-service (FFS) contractor during the first 12 months of the program launch. The contract was renewed for a second 12-month period.

Provider Provided a Quick Return on Investment

- 1. The provider provided a quick return on investment (ROI) of 20% within the first 12 months of the program launch.
- 2. The provider provided a quick return on investment (ROI) of 20% within the first 12 months of the program launch.

Model Net Revenues for University X as a Provider

- 1. The provider's net revenue was 20% of the total net revenue.
- 2. The provider's net revenue was 20% of the total net revenue.

Based on current model for University X, we estimate that the provider's net revenue will be 20% of the total net revenue. Examples of our projects to date (2015).

Our experience in higher education has exposed us to a variety of vendors, contract structures, and revenue sharing agreements. We have helped institutions develop, review, and evaluate RFPs and can provide benchmarks on a myriad of public-private partnership agreements.

KENNEDY & COMPANY

Institution:	University of South Carolina
Project Summary:	Kennedy & Company supported the University in its development of a 5-year strategic plan. As part of this work we conducted research on federal, state, and local government changes; evaluated markets for students at all levels; analyzed trends within USC; researched peer institutions; and provided insight into best practices across the industry to inform the direction of the strategic plan. Kennedy & Company also oversaw and supported the development of accountability and tracking tools for the 5-year plan. Throughout this project we worked in close collaboration with the Director of Strategic Planning and the Provost to develop, write, and refine the draft of the strategic plan. We also provided regular updates on the development of the accompanying strategic plan accountability tool and conducted an assessment as to how this tool would support the implementation of the strategic plan. We went through several iterations of this plan, collecting and incorporating feedback from stakeholders and leadership across campus as well as the University Board. Having now finalized the plan, we are exploring—in partnership with USC—the implementation steps and cost implications of specific aspects identified in the strategic plan.

KENNEDY & COMPANY

Institution:	Old Dominion University and George Mason University
Project Summary:	Kennedy & Company supported Old Dominion University (ODU) and George Mason University (Mason) in their effort to launch a state-sponsored online degree-completion network in Virginia. The state of Virginia provided a directive to the two institutions to build the Virginia Degree Completion Network (VDCN) with very little in the way of direction and no dedicated funding. Kennedy & Company interviewed decision-makers at both campuses to design a preliminary vision of the organization that would provide students with online and in-person instructional modalities. Additionally, we assisted the two institutions with developing the governance structure to support programmatic offerings and the administrative infrastructure needed to effectively recruit and retain students. Our final deliverable of this engagement was a financial model that provided estimates for how much it would cost the two institutions to offer these services. Together with Mason and ODU, we presented this model to the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia (SCHEV). The final deliverable was used as an advocacy tool for the state to determine how much state funding VDCN should receive, and negotiations are still ongoing.

Institution:	The College of William & Mary
Project Summary:	Kennedy & Company worked with the College of William & Mary to conduct a comprehensive review of the university's administrative and student services operations, in pursuit of operational effectiveness and efficiency. Our work focused on nearly all aspects of the university, including IT, purchasing, human resources, finance & budget, and several auxiliary units. A core theme of the project was movement from decentralized to centralized services across the university and its schools. Kennedy & Company and its partners worked with William & Mary's committees in each area to establish goals, develop implementation plans, measure likely results, and quantify projected costs savings. In other areas more focused on student services, such as Advancement and Admissions/Enrollment services, the work of Kennedy & Company focused more on the need for a cross-institution CRM to unite the institution's admissions and advancement work, among other items. Through its work with William & Mary, well over $15M in cost savings were identified. In addition, Kennedy & Company was hired to assist with selection of W&M's next CRM system and has been re-hired in several instances to continue its support of the institution.

Qualifications & References

Institution:	George Mason University and Northern Virginia Community College
Project Summary:	Kennedy & Company worked together with Mason and NOVA to provide analysis on the financial impacts of the ADVANCE partnership – a pathway program from the community college to the completion of a bachelor’s degree at Mason. As part of this work K&Co. consultants assisted Mason and NOVA with the preliminary visioning of the operational model for ADVANCE, paying particular attention to the student flow, starting with the identification of prospective students all the way through graduation at Mason to ensure that the financial model accurately portrays the costs of running a frictionless enrollment environment. Kennedy & Company also made “buy vs build” recommendations for how Mason and NOVA can best design the ADVANCE student recruitment and support infrastructure with internal resources and external partners. K&Co. interviewed key stakeholders at both institutions to understand the unique structures of each and how that impacts planning for the ADVANCE partnership. We also developed a forecast for potential outsourcing and ISA costs applicable to the ADVANCE project. The primary deliverable for the project was a dynamic and iterative financial model built to project the revenues and costs to launch and sustain the ADVANCE program over the course of the next ten years. We also projected a baseline for enrollments, tuition rates, fees, course consumption, instructional modality, and financial aid to accurately reflect expected revenues, based on NOVA and Mason experience, where applicable and comparisons to other programs designed for similarly situated students. Finally, we forecasted faculty, student support, technology, and administrative costs that Mason and NOVA can expect to effectively support ADVANCE and its students.

Institution:	University of South Carolina School of Law
Project Summary:	Kennedy & Company supported the University of South Carolina's School of Law (USC Law) to improve its long-term financial position via tuition discounting strategies and an analysis of new program offerings. In order to more effectively yield students, Kennedy & Company developed a yield model that predicted a student's likelihood of enrolling. The yield model aims to increase class predictability and improve net tuition revenue by offering students the right scholarship award. The yield model also incorporated a number of data points, including demographics, student quality, and scholarship level to build an aggregate projected class based on applicant data for daily reporting at a leadership level. Additionally, Kennedy & Company conducted market research to determine high-potential new program offerings that USC Law could pursue outside of its traditional JD program. Through peer/competitor research, interviews with alumni and employers, and meeting with USC Law leadership, we proposed five new programs that USC Law could launch that would materially add to net tuition revenue within the next five years. We also made recommendations for the instructional modality of these programs, the ideal target population, and the administrative infrastructure that USC Law would need to recruit, retain, and support these students once they enrolled. Kennedy & Company is providing ongoing support for these programs as they are being designed and guided through the approvals process at USC Law, the USC Board of Trustees, and at the state level.

Institution:	Louisiana State University System
Project Summary:	Kennedy & Company provided the four campuses within the Louisiana State University System (LSU System) with strategies to transition its online education offerings away from third-party management and towards a fully in-house offering. The LSU System had outsourced their online educational offerings for five years, but the institutions were paying a substantial premium for the online students that came in via the provider's network. Kennedy & Company advised the LSU System in its contract negotiations with the outside firm when it wanted to extend the contract for another five years. Our work helped the organization to instead secure a short-term contract, which provides the LSU System with an opportunity to maximize its net tuition revenue in the online space much more quickly. Additionally, Kennedy & Company provided the LSU System with consulting services that would allow it to continue its online education enterprise when the contract term ended. Leveraging meetings with LSU System leadership and our knowledge of the online education landscape, we developed an operating model with a timeline for implementation of each phase before the end of the contract. Additionally, Kennedy & Company provided a financial model that estimated the enrollments, credit hour generated, and the instructional and administrative costs that LSU could expect to incur. The LSU System is currently building up its online education capabilities with the plan to offer all of the necessary services in-house at the conclusion of the third-party contract.

In the event that Mason requests destruction of its data, Contractor agrees to destroy all data in its possession and in the possession of any subcontractors or agents to which the Contractor might have transferred University Data. Contractor agrees to provide documentation of data destruction to the University.
